ABOUT DEPARTMENT

Textile Technology is in fact the oldest among the technologies mingled in every human beings day to day life. But, in the present day context textile technology has become a balanced mixture of all its conventional and contemporary technologies. The programme is basically a tailor made job oriented programme with ample amount of diversified career prospects. Moreover, this course also has the intrinsic nature to direct the young technocrats towards a variety of entrepreneurship opportunities. So, the programme and its curriculum are meticulously designed by keeping these multifarious objectives in the mind. The programme is equipoised with theoretical and practical aspects of textiles starting from fibres to fabrics. Apart from that the disciples of the programme are being imparted the basic skills of fashion, garmenting, technical textiles, management, industrial engineering and safety etc., by considering the huge entry level employment prospects in these areas. The students are imparted on hand training for effective communication skill, personality development integrated with interpersonal skills apart from the curriculum which grooms them to fit perfectly into the shoes of a beginner level professional.
